

Nursing is in crisis.

COVID-19 has pushed our health-care system over the edge. For patients, that means delayed surgeries, postponed tests, and undiagnosed illnesses. There's been a nursing shortage in Ontario for decades. Now it's a crisis that can't be ignored. Overworked nurses are burning out and many are quitting the profession. Empty praise won't solve this crisis.

WITHOUT NURSES, HEALTH CARE WILL FAIL.

Ontario Nurses' Association

KeepNursingStrong.ca