

FROM CRISIS TO CATASTROPHE

2022 started with a shocking lesson for the people of Ontario: our health-care system is running on empty. Decades of underfunding have left Ontario at least 22,000 nurses short, and there's no viable plan to build capacity. Lockdowns and school closures are desperate measures to keep hospitals from collapsing – but without nurses they will.

KeepNursingStrong.ca